

ABSTRACT

A polarizing plate with optical compensation function, including a polarizing layer and an optically compensating layer, wherein the optically compensating layer
5 includes an optically compensating A-layer including a stretched polymer film and an optically compensating B-layer including a cholesteric liquid crystal layer.